

Corporate Partnerships Program

FACTSHEET

What is the Corporate Partnership Program?

The aim of the Corporate Partnerships Program is to develop mutually beneficial, two-way relationships, between finalists of the Indigenous Governance Awards and corporations with a Reconciliation Action Plan. These partnerships will support good governance practice, cross-cultural learning and business development. As a result, organisations will strengthen their shared knowledge and broaden their impact within the community.

The Corporate Partnership Program aims to:

Facilitate stronger two-way partnerships between corporate Australia and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander organisations

Build sustainable working relationships and networks between diverse organisations

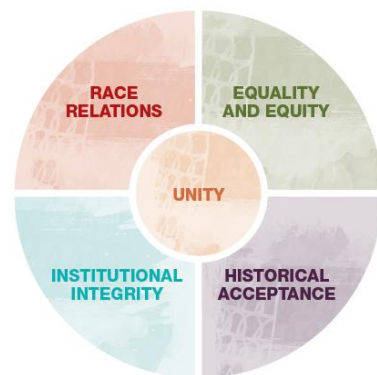

Encourage mutual sharing of knowledge and best practices in cross cultural partnerships

Reconciliation Australia's Vision

The Corporate Partnership Program aims to progress reconciliation by recognising, supporting, and celebrating strong Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander governance and self-determination.

The objectives directly address three of the five dimensions of reconciliation—equality and equity, institutional integrity and unity—and indirectly influence race relations and historical acceptance.

We believe that by connecting people and sharing experiences, expectations and knowledge, we will continue to move forwards towards a reconciled Australia.
